COLLEGE PRIMARY ELECTION HELD THIS MORNING

Milne Comedy Is Presented

"Mr. Pim Passes By" Scores Success Last Night

Before a large crowd, the last offering of the Lawrence dramatic season, "Mr. Pim Passes By", three-act comedy by A. A. Milne, was presented last night in the Memorial chapel. A comedy well adapted to a college audience, replete with laughter-provoking lines, a well chosen cast, and the skillful work of the capable director, Miss Lucile Welty, combined to produce one of the most finished and enjoyable productions yet given by Lawrence talent.

The title role of Carroway Pim was well played by Diehl Snyder, '29, whose characterization of the absent-minded old man whose visits brought the near-catastrophe, was at all times excellently portrayed.

The leads of George Marden, a narrow-minded but generous and kindly British country gentleman, and Olivia Marden, his charming more liberal and modern young wife, were done in professional style by William McLaughlin, '29, and Bernita Danielson, '29.

Magdalen Bohr, '30, who made her first appearance before a Lawrence audience as Dinah, the niece of George, and Herbert Ungrodt, '30, who played opposite her as Brian, an artist, took their parts with a pleasing vim and dash which contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the play. The English aunt was well done by Helen Tounkemper, '29, and Nellie Chamberlain, '29, was well cast as an English maid.

The production staff which was headed by Robert Valentine, '30, took charge of the setting, which appropriately provided the suitable background and atmosphere of an English country home.

Bishop Lawrence To Present Loving Cup

A silver loving cup is to be presented to Lawrence college by Bishop William Lawrence, according to announcement by President Henry M. Wriston at convocation Tuesday.

Classical Club Picks Next Year's Officers

Ruth Beumler, '31, was elected president of Classical club at a meeting of that organization held Wednesday evening in the Latin library, Main hall. Beatrice Siedschlag, '30, was chosen vice-president and Lucy Reidy, '32, secretary-treasurer. A report on the committee for next year's programs was given at this time by Ruth Beumler.

Junior Orchestra To Give Concert Tonight

The conservatory junior orchestra conducted by Percy Fullinwider, professor of violin, will present a concert tonight at the Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8:15 o'clock. David Seoular, from the studio of Dean Carl J. Waterman, will be the soloist of the evening.

Theodora Taras, '25, Kiel, spent the week end with her sister Margaret Taras, '32.

H.S. TEAMS TO COMPETE HERE

Dr. Bagg Is Appointed As Official Delegate To African Convention

Dr. R. M. Bagg, professor of geology now on an expedition in South America, has been appointed one of the six official delegates of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical engineers to the International geological convention at Pretoria, South Africa. The convention will be held some time next year.

Dr. Raney Speaks On Rhodes Scholarships

Opportunities and Application Methods Outlined

The opportunities offered by Rhodes scholarships and the method of application were pointed out by Dr. W. F. Raney, professor of history, at convocation Tuesday.

"These scholarships", said Dr. Raney, "were created by the will of Cecil Rhodes, the famous South African statesman and capitalist who died in 1903. Their purpose is to foster world peace and to bring about a better understanding between the English speaking countries."

A Rhodes scholarship entitles the holder to three years of study at Oxford university, England, with an annual stipend of about $2,000, according to the speaker.

"The qualities considered in selecting a Rhodes scholar", said Dr. Raney, "are literary and scholastic ability and attainment, qualities of manhood, truth, courage, and moral force of character, and physical vigor as shown in outdoor sports."

Three Lawrentians were chosen as Rhodes scholars, according to Dr. Raney. A. E. Rollins was selected in 1905, Ernest Horten in 1910, and Keville Larson in 1923.

Prize Winning Story Read To Spanish Club

Margaret Eberlien, '30, read her story "El Hijo de Magney", which in English means "The Son of the Magney", at a meeting of the Spanish club held Tuesday evening at Hamar house. This story won first prize for its author in the Juegos Florales contest which took place in March.

The new officers who were installed at this meeting are: Clara Bunde, '31, president; Arnold Sieg, '32, vice-president; Evelyn Stedman, '30, secretary, and Irene Schraeder, '30, treasurer.

Hopkinson, '31, Is New Tau Kappa Alpha Leader

Dan Hopkinson, '31, was elected president of the Lawrence chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic fraternity, at a meeting held Wednesday. Bertha Greenberg, '30, was elected historian and William Morton, '31, was elected secretary and treasurer.

Dora Edlin, '30, Sings In Chapel Program

Dora Edlin, '30, student of the conservatory of music, sang five selections in convocation Wednesday. Her numbers were "His Coming", by Fraus, "The Last Hour", by Kramer, "Aria—Joan of Arc", by Tschakowsky, "Treat Me Nice", by Carpenter, and "Bluebell", by MacDowell. She was accompanied by Everett Roudeshush at the piano.

800-1000 Men Are Entered

Thirty-Four Schools To Vie In Interscholastic Meet

The second annual Lawrence college interscholastic track and field meet will be held at Whiting field, Saturday, May 18. Entries have been received from 34 schools, and between 800 and 1000 Wisconsin athletes will compete.

The entry list is divided into two groups. Schools having more than 750 students enrolled are to participate in Class A, while those whose student registration is less than 750 are in class B.

Class B events will start at 9 o'clock in the morning and are expected to run through to noon. Class A men will take the field at 1:30 o'clock and will scamper through their paces until late in the afternoon.

Class B athletes will be entertained at the Methodist church Saturday noon, at which time medals for winners will be distributed by Coach A. C. Denney.

A banquet for class A men will be held at Brokaw hall Saturday night. Medals will be awarded at the banquet by Coach Clarence Rasmussen. It is expected that fraternities will help entertain the men both at noon and evening.

Appleton, Wausau, Milwaukee East, Milwaukee South, Milwaukee Bay View, Milwaukee Lincoln, Milwaukee West, and Milwaukee Washington, comprise the entry list for class A schools.

Appleton Dark Horse

Appleton is rather of an unknown quantity but is expected to provide strong competition. Wausau, coached by "Cabby" Ewers, a former Lawrentian, is reported to have a strong aggregation, despite the fact that several of their stars were dropped for breaking training rules. Milwaukee high schools have always made a specialty of their track work and have dominated other state schools for several years.

Willem Made 'Ariel' Editor

Picked By 'Ariel' Board of Control To Succeed Cannon

Jack Willem, '31, Milwaukee, was elected editor of the 1930 Ariel at a meeting of the Ariel board of control Tuesday. Willem's two years of staff experience gave him the election, according to Ross Cannon, '30, retiring editor.

The position of business manager will be filled later this spring or next fall, and the only other business of the meeting was a consideration of the engraver for next year's book.

Ross Cannon, editor; Edgar Koch, '30, business manager; President Wriston; Professor F. W. Clippinger, and R. J. Watts, business manager of the college comprise the Ariel board.

May 25 is the present date set for the appearance of the 1930 yearbook which is now at the bindery, Cannon announced.

Miss Bethurum Gives Talk On 'Shakespeare'

Miss Dorothy Bethurum, assistant professor of English, spoke on the subject, "Why Read Shakespeare?", at convocation yesterday.

"There is sometimes a feeling", she said, "among one hundred per cent Americans that the study of poetry is hostile to the great concern of responsible citizens; the making of money."

Following this introduction, Miss Bethurum gave illustrations of what can be obtained from Shakespeare's works; in closing, she said, "Poetry reveals the possibilities of human experience, and opens the way, not for a withdrawal from human contacts, but for more abundant living."

Dr. Baker Speaks

Dr. Louis Baker spoke on "The Political Situation of the Balkans" at the annual banquet of the Tuesday Club, Neenah.

Student Senate Adopts New Ballot Forms For Elections

A new system of ballots for the all college election providing for the presenting of mimeographed ballots to students on election day, was approved by the Lawrence college student senate meeting last Tuesday evening. Under the new form of balloting, the names of all candidates nominated at the caucus Tuesday will be printed before the day of election, and students who vote will merely be required to check the candidate of their choice.

Ballots were handed out in convocation by ushers this morning, all classes voting in their respective units. Seniors voted only for all college candidates, while juniors, sophomores and freshmen balloted for their own class officers as well as nominees for all college officers.

President Arthur Mueller, at Tuesday's senate meeting, expressed his appreciation of the "cooperation given by each member of the senate during the past year", which he characterized as "one of the most successful years in the history of the body". The senate responded by moving the president a rising vote of appreciation.

"Chinese Culture" Topic Of Talk By Dr. Denyes

"Chinese Culture" was the subject of Dr. J. R. Denyes' talk given before a meeting of the History club which was held at the speaker's house Tuesday evening. "China is being civilized by three means", he said, "by evangelistic work, by medical aid, and by education."

Dr. Denyes illustrated his remarks on the education, industry and religion of the country with slides.

Semester Grades To Be Sent On Request

All students wishing to have their grades for the present semester mailed to them after the close of school may have it done by leaving a stamped, self addressed envelope with the college registrar, Olin A. Meade.

This is a special service to students. Grades are always mailed out to parents during the course of summer vacation.

Editor

Jack Willem

The 1931 Ariel will be edited by Jack Willem, a member of next year's junior class, who was elected to the position at a recent meeting of the Ariel board of control. Willem is a member of Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity, and in addition to his Ariel work served during the past year as assistant manager of the basketball team.

LAWRENTIAN PLATFORM

1. Greater expression of student loyalty to institutions and traditions of the college.
2. Fair and impartial presentation of news and opinions relating to campus problems and activities.

BE THERE

It is needless to attempt an enlargement on what Coach Clarence Rasmussen has written concerning the duty of every Lawrentian out at Whiting field tomorrow.

We only wish to urge further that every student take Razz' statements for their full value. If they do—Lawrence WILL play the perfect host, and these high school athletes WILL depart with recollections of Lawrence as a great school—and a great host.

For many of the men who will compete here tomorrow, this visit will be their first and perhaps their last to the Lawrence campus before they are faced with the problem of choosing a college or university upon graduation from high school.

First impressions will be lasting.

Let's do all we can to make these impressions good ones.

SELL LAWRENCE—FIRST

Fraternity "rushing" will no doubt come back into the spotlight in all its glory over the weekend, with the interscholastic track and field meet scheduled to be run off. A certain amount of "rushing" is inevitable, but if Greeks are wise, Lawrence will be pushed first—then the fraternity.

When a high school lad is choosing his college or university, after graduation from high school, he doesn't base his selection on fraternities, but on the academic opportunities, the extra curricular activities, and then—the social advantages, offered by the various institutions.

This warning applies to both fraternities and sororities, who take their "summer rushing" seriously. Every Lawrentian should be on the lookout for prospective students during vacation, but the task is to sell Lawrence first—then the fraternity and sorority.

MISS LUCILE WELTY

With the presentation of "Mr. Pim Passes By" in Memorial chapel, last night, the Lawrence dramatic season was brought to a close, and it also marked the closing dramatic productions.

Miss Welty will not return next fall, and it remains to be seen whether or not Lawrence dramatic presentations will be kept on the high plane she has placed them during her years as director. Miss Welty has worked tirelessly in coaching several plays each year, and her skillful direction has been the leading factor in making Lawrence dramatics the success that they have been.

Lawrence's first high school track meet was sponsored in 1925. Meets have been held yearly since then. The contest this year is the largest in point of schools entered and for number of men taking part.

Medals are to be donated by local merchants. Blue Key has been canvassing the city during the past week and reports that the city is supporting the project.

Many fine records have been set up in the past. In the larger school entry list, especially, are to be found records that will compare with any high school meet in the country. At the last meet, in 1928, eleven records were smashed. The boys seemed to have no mercy and allowed only three all time first places to stand.

Tomorrow, Lawrence college will play host to one thousand high school boys, their coaches, and their followers. The physical attributes of the school will be easily grasped by our guests. The personal attributes—spirit and hospitality—are ours to conceal or reveal as we see fit. It is conceivable that the impressions these guests receive from us may have value.

The perfect host pays attention to his guest. The most acceptable attention that Lawrence college can pay to their guests tomorrow is to attend the events of our fifth annual interscholastic meet at Whiting field.

We may feel proud of our achievement if these high school lads, their coaches, and their followers take with them as they depart recollections of

BULLETIN

Two of the three Greek baseball teams with perfect percentages were knocked from their first place perch yesterday afternoon, when the Theta Phis beat the Psi Chis, 6 to 2, and the Delta Sigs jumped on the Phi Kaps for a 3 to 2 win. The D. I.'s are now in sole possession of first place.

Theta Phis 6, Psi Chis 1

Bunched hits in the third, fourth, and sixth innings accounted for an easy Theta Phi victory over the Psi Chis. In the fifth inning the losers made their only score of the game. Pitching with a four run lead his mates had given him, Schneller let down a little and gave his only base on balls. A Texas leaguer over second brought the run home. In the seventh, with Cinkosky on the mound for the Theta Phis, the Psi Chis got runners on second and third with none down, but were unable to score.

Theta Phis030 120 x 6

The Delta Sigs copped a pitcher's battle from the Phi Kaps in the last inning when Babcock drove a hit through Kriek into left field, bringing Welch home with the winning tally.

Both Babcock and Clark pitched good ball, and the game was nip and tuck throughout. This game moved the Delta Sigs up into a tie for fourth with the Betas, while the Phi Kaps tumbled into a tie for second with the Psi Chis.

Mace and Pi Delt To Meet Next Week

Two Lawrence honorary fraternities will hold meeting early next week, according to recent announcements. It is expected that the annual junior initiation services for Mace, honorary leadership fraternity, will be conducted either Tuesday or Wednesday mornings. At this time Ross Cannon, Edgar Koch and Ray Brussat, all '30, will be initiated by the active chapter: Victor Weinkauff, Irwin Wensink, John Walter, Arthur Mueller, Alois Fischl, Fred Schauer and Ralph Barfell.

There will be a meeting of Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalistic fraternity for men, at the Beta Sigma Phi fraternity house Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. All members of the fraternity are expected to be present.

Short Sport Spasms

Tomorrow is a big day at home and abroad. High school lads will be dashing about all over Mr. Whiting's field, while the Lawrence pride and joy of the track will romp about at the expense of Mr. and Mrs. Marquette of Milwaukee.

This is a real opportunity for Lawrence to make an impression on the boys who will be gaining their first impression of the college tomorrow. There will undoubtedly be some fine and a chance to grab hold of material for future championship teams at Lawrence. Come out and show the lads a good time. Your own team will be out of sight and hearing, but you can watch some of the best teams in the state perform at the field tomorrow. Let's go!

And tomorrow the Marquette team will wait in fear and trembling the invasion of a bunch of hard-boiled tracksters from Appleboig. Their fear may induce them to run faster than Lawrence in some events, but not in all of them. Never fear, never fear, the big bullies won't be able to give us a beating like they gave Ripon.

Already we're thinking of a week from tomorrow, at which time there will be a little party, Beloit as host, and Ripon college and a school by the name of Lawrence as guests. Everyone is going to play, however, and it's going to be lots of fun for someone—but this must be saved for future issues.

Such a tennis schedule as Clippy is arranging! It looks as if tennis will be a bigger sport this year than it has been for some time. The boys have taken one bad beating but that was from a real outfit. We'll see what they do to someone their own size this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. There's no track meet to detract from tennis today, so here's the golden opportunity to see the boys perform against Ripon.

First Round Completed; Theta Phis, D.I.'s, Phi Kaps, Psi Chis Win

The initial round of the interfraternity horse-shoe tournament was played off Monday with all eight houses participating. The second bracket was scheduled for Wednesday, but the inclement weather necessitated postponement.

The match between the D.I.'s and the Phi Taus resulted in the closest decision of the day, the battle going to three games. The Phi Taus took the first game with a 50-49 score, but dropped the second to the rallying D.I.'s. The Phi Taus came back strong and copped the honors with a 50-37 tally.

The Psi Chis stepped on the Sig Eps for a two game decision. The initial game was taken with a 50-26 tally and the second with a 50-25 score.

Lawrence Expected To Offer Stiff Competition

By Vinton Jarrett

Tomorrow afternoon the Viking track team will make its second out of town appearance of the season at Milwaukee, where a dual meet will be held with Marquette. Coach Denney's purpose in picking this meet at this time is to prepare his team for the state meet which will be held at Beloit May 25.

Marquette Is Favorite

While Lawrence holds no particular hopes of defeating the Hilltoppers, it is hoped that the Blue and White will make a good showing against the powerful aggregation headed by Captain Treps. Denney's men are capable of placing in almost every event, and in some of them it is expected to gain the majority of points.

The distance events will be among the best for the Vikings, because of the efforts of Captain Menning, Wolf, Barnes, Mueller, Glanzer and Jesse. Rohan, Marquette's star two miler and miler, will run up against some stiff competition in his two numbers, Wolf having beaten him once this year at the Madison meet in the two mile, and Menning's work in the mile lately indicates that he will be a strong contender for honors in that event. Glanzer will be a man to consider in the two mile, while Jesse will probably run in the mile. Barnes and Mueller will be the likely running mates to Menning in the 880.

Treps Is Fast

While the local sprint men are always good for several points, they will lose more than they have been accustomed to so far this year because of the work of Treps in the century and the 220. Pope and Brusat, however, should account for places in both of these, while the work of Fischl and Rasmussen in the quarter mile will probably further swell the Lawrence total.

In the field events, points will be scattered but not totally lacking, by any means. The high jump will be taken care of by Ellis, Aldrich, and Calhoun, with Cannon added to this list for the pole vault.

Pope, Brusat, and Ellis are the likely entrants for the broad jump. The weight men, Krohn, Humphrey, and Vincent, have been improving, particularly in the shot and discus, and have a chance to gain a few points in these events.

games. The first set-to ended with a 50-21 score, and the same proportion was maintained in the second game with a 50-23 decision.

The Phi Kaps managed to squeeze out a two game victory over the Delta Sigs. The match going to 50-41 and 50-46 scores.

Delta Iota continued on victory row Monday afternoon when they soused the Delta Sigs in whitewash 3-0. The game was nip and tuck with the D.I.'s taking a one run lead in the first frame on Steinberg's poke and two errors. They added to their lead in the fifth inning with two counters on three solid smacks. Both pitchers, Rasmussen and Babcock, turned in banner exhibitions, but the latter's support failed him in the pinches.

Ring Tennis, New Sport, Is Popular With The Coeds

By Helen Ziegler

Ring tennis is a comparatively new sport among the girls on Lawrence campus, is an extremely interesting game, and is by no means "child's play" as some people have imagined. The women's physical education instructor and the W.A.A. president were victims of stiff muscles for half a week after.

The faculty women have also found that the game can be made very entertaining even when played less strenuously, and some of them have inquired where they might buy sets for themselves.

Ring tennis is played with a sponge rubber ring, which is tossed with an underhand throw over a net five feet eight inches high, the opponent trying to catch the ring before it lands in his court. Two or four people may play the game; the scoring is like volleyball, and the serving rotates like tennis.

Instruction is given by numeral club members on the college courts which are located on a lot on East Alton-st., between Lawe and Meade-sts.

John Hamburg, '30, is ill at his home in Baraboo.

Ripon Invades Vike Tennis Courts Today

Return Match With Oshkosh To Be Held Monday

Coach F. W. Clippinger's tennis team will attempt to redeem its drubbing at the hands of Marquette last Saturday when the Ripon netmen invade the home courts this afternoon. The match will be composed of five singles and two doubles tilts, the Lawrence men probably being the same ones who took the field in the Marquette match.

A return with Oshkosh State Teachers' college on Monday will be the next number on the schedule, Lawrence scoring an easy victory over the teachers in the first match. Clippinger has arranged several other matches which will compose a schedule lasting until June 1.

Recital Given By Roudebush

Large Audience Hears Young
Artist Tuesday

Playing to the largest and most appreciative audience in attendance at any student recital of this season, Everett Roudebush gave his commencement recital at Peabody hall Tuesday, May 14. Numbers on the program were the Bach triple concerto in D minor, and the Tchaikowsky concerto No. 1 in B flat minor, Opus 23. The outstanding ability of the young artist was well expressed in both.

The Bach Concerto was played on three pianos by Roudebush, Ruth Orthmann, and Russell Wichmann, assisted by the string ensemble composed of Percy Fullinwider, Roberta Lanouette, first violin; Janet Carnross, Oscar Hoh, second violin; Cyrus Daniel, viola; and Frances Moore and Joseph Zickler, cello.

Under the direction of Professor John Ross Frampton, with whom Roudebush has studied for four years, the work was beautifully carried out. Every voice of the complicated polyphonic form was perfectly expressed. The difficult finger passages were executed by Roudebush with a facility which is a distinct mark of his training. The clearness of tone which he displayed was pleasing, and is one of the outstanding characteristics of his playing.

The Tchaikowsky concerto was mighty in its majestic opening. It is the most brilliant of all the concertos ever written. The brilliant nature of Roudebush's technique was well brought out in this work, as the difficult rhythmic patterns of the Russian composition was carried out with careful use of dynamics and shading. From the opening chords of the heavy Andante movement, through the simply appealing Andantino semplice, and the rapidly brilliant Allegro, the fire and color of the music were gripping. At the close of the concert insistent applause brought the soloist back five times to acknowledge his audience.

Ruth Orthmann, who played the orchestral accompaniment on the second piano gave a creditable performance. Roudebush and Miss Orthmann have been doing ensemble work during the entire year and have appeared several times in concert. The Tchaikowsky will be presented again with the conservatory symphony at the commencement concert in Memorial chapel, June 6.

THE COMING OF THE LORD. By Sarah Gertrude Millin. Horace Liveright. N. Y. 284 pp. $2.50.

This novel will give opportunity for Sarah Gertrude Millin's proponents to engage in another enthusiastic research for extravagant and frenetic praise concerning her technique. Her book has the particular flair for the unusual that will make it become immediately popular; moreover, the always intriguing problem of the Kafir race in Africa appears. There are faults so apparent that a newsboy could point them out; but its excellence is scarcely less pronounced. What Mrs. Millin attempts to do is to reveal race prejudice by the representation of mutually antagonistic races: English, Jewish, German, and Kafir. The story is a dramatic interpretation of social difficulties attending a proximity of races, and it shows the impossibility of amalgamation.

Its merit lies, as has been stated, in problems of technique. Mrs. Millin has so far mastered the mechanics of writing that the writing runs smoothly; so smoothly that the suspicious will suspect a Homeric indifference and abstraction in her method. One feels that Mrs. Millin sets about to record imperturbably the events that occur in her novel. She has an immense sympathy with her characters, each of whom, Saul, Arnold Deserdon, Herma, and Dr. Diethelm, might say, "And what I would, I cannot do". The style is enlivened by terse, brief sentences, that provoke interest, and Mrs. Millin has the ability of observation and selection. Her few descriptions leave a vivid impression: "Saul looked about him. Nothing was changed in this room he had first seen six months ago except the flowers—Even the maplike design on the wall where the rain had come through was not different."

The outstanding defect of the story is a lack of unity in purpose and in treatment. The preceding novel, "God's Stepchildren" confined itself to the tracing of genealogy beginning when an English missionary to Africa, the Rev. Andrew Flood, married a Hottentot, and ending with difficulties of the fourth generation arising from racial heritage. "The Coming of the Lord", on the contrary, may be said to have two distinct themes; the more obvious is the story of the Jew, Saul Nathan, who, returning to Gibeah to begin medical practice, becomes intrigued by Herma Dierdon, the wife of a retired army officer. The second plot begins with the arrival of a band of Kafirs led by an epileptic Levite who refuses to leave his troops until the Lord comes, this seventh year, to relieve his people. An unwarranted fear causes Arnold Duerdon to mobilize the Gibeahites to repel the Levites. During the desultory attack Saul is killed.

Each character is easily overcome, and each is wanting in mental and moral pertinacity of purpose. The diluted courage of Saul Nathan is not a foil to the easily influenced and passive Herma. While the portrayal of characters that are of themselves weak is not a fault, the futility of their lives and the resigned acceptance of their fates produces something akin to irritation in the reader's mind. When Herma, leaving her husband, tells Saul to write to her, he "at the end of an afternoon spent in crumpling up sheets of paper, decided that he had nothing to say to her. He decided too, that now, after all, he would not leave Gibeah."
